BIOTECH ON THE VERGE OF A COMEBACK

MEDICAL BioHealth with attractive upside potential

➤ Valuation discount relative to NASDAQ and S&P 500 is historically high – thus increasing catch-up potential in the event of a market rotation.

➤ Biotech is an early cyclical sector: in the past, periods of weakness have usually been followed by disproportionately strong recoveries.

➤ Fundamentally supported: Pipeline density, M&A momentum and cash reserves of many biotech companies are at record levels.

The MEDICAL BioHealth Fund offers investors access to a sector that is currently undervalued but structurally strong in terms of growth. The combination of scientific progress, regulatory clarity and capital inflows creates the basis for disproportionate recovery potential.

It is not a financial analysis and is therefore not subject to any legal requirements regarding the impartiality of financial analyses. It is therefore not subject to any prohibition on trading prior to the publication of financial analyses. The value of the special fund (fund) and thus the value of each unit may rise or fall relative to the issue price. This may mean that investors may not recover the full amount of their investment when they sell their shares. No assurance can be given that the investment policy objectives will be achieved.

Past performance is not a guarantee or an indicator of future performance.

Further detailed information on the opportunities and risks is contained in the sales prospectus and the basic information sheet. The sales prospectus, the basic information sheet and the associated semi-annual and annual reports are the only binding basis for the purchase of fund units. As of 06/2025

- Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

- A proven analytical approach does not guarantee future investment success.

- Stock market risk due to possible price declines caused by difficult market conditions:

Securities are subject to market-related price fluctuations that may not be offset by the active management of the asset manager or investment advisor. In addition, there are specific risks associated with drug development, such as clinical failure, regulatory hurdles, delayed approvals or unexpected safety issues, which can significantly impair the value of the company.

- Currency risks due to foreign holdings in the portfolio:

You are exposed to currency risk if investments are made in securities or bonds denominated in a foreign currency and the underlying exchange rate falls. The appreciation of the euro (depreciation of the foreign currency) causes foreign assets denominated in euros to lose value. The exchange rate risk of foreign securities is thus compounded by currency risk, even if the securities are traded in euros on a German stock exchange. You may suffer a loss if the foreign currency in which the investment was made depreciates against your domestic currency.

- Country, credit and liquidity risks of issuers:

The creditworthiness of the issuer is one of the most important selection criteria for bonds. An issuer's creditworthiness may deteriorate during the term of the bond to such an extent that the issuer's interest and principal payments are not only at risk but may even be defaulted. This can result in a total loss of your investment.

- Long-term experience, certificates and awards do not guarantee investment success.

- Sustainability risk:

Environmental conditions, social upheaval and/or poor corporate governance can have a negative impact on the value of investments and assets in a number of ways. These so-called sustainability risks can have a direct impact on the net assets, financial position and earnings of the investment objects and also on their reputation.

- Risks associated with investing in small and medium-cap companies:

The fund invests in early-stage medical development work. This results in the risk that the fund may hold shares in companies that only have a medium or small market capitalisation and are therefore less resilient to crises.

- Concentration risk:

The fund's concentration on its specific investment segment of equities and its specialisation in the biotechnology sector prevents diversification across different asset classes and thus more comprehensive risk diversification.

This publication is not to be understood as an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to purchase securities. In particular, it is not a sales prospectus within the meaning of the law, but rather an advertising presentation intended for individual information purposes.

Reading this publication does not replace individual advice.

The information contained in this publication does not constitute investment advice, but merely provides a brief summary of the key features of the fund. The sales prospectus contains complete information about the fund, detailed information on investment objectives, fees and risks, as well as legal and tax information.

The sales prospectus, the key information document and the associated semi-annual and annual reports are the only binding basis for the purchase of fund units. Please read the sales prospectus and the key information document carefully and consult your legal and/or tax advisor before making an investment. The sales prospectus and the key investor information are available free of charge in German upon request from the management company or at <https://medicalstrategy.de/fonds/medical-bio-health>.
